DESCRIPCIÓN	INFO DEL PROYECTO 2016 is announced as "the year of communities" which strongly correlates to many aspects of our cooperation with the state parks (for example, cultural heritage protection, close ties with local communities). According to the decision taken by the parliament, local communities are important elements of implementing the national and European regional policies, reinforcing active citizenship at the basis of self-government and providing conditions for economic, social and cultural development. Most of our volunteers will be accommodated and have their activities in smaller rural communities which are one of the primary target groups in this project. The thematic focus of the year 2016 and the planned EVS activities are expected to yield new synergies and put extra focus on the importance of cherishing local communities in Lithuania and in Europe. Another symbolic coincidence is the celebration of the 20th anniversary of EVS which proves the long term importance of this action. The primary focus of our projects has always been young people, thus we are addressing the challenges youth is facing today. According to the official assessment of unemployment situation in Europe (ref. Eurostat on youth unemployment, social inclusion, youth education) young people have been hit particularly hard during the crisis. They are vulnerable because of the transitional life periods they are going through, their lack of professional experience, sometimes inadequate education or training, their often limited social protection coverage, restricted access to financial resources, and precarious work conditions. We see direct links from this specific action of the Erasmus+ programme to improve the level of key competences and skills of young people, promote participation in the labor market, active citizenship, inter-cultural dialogue, youth solidarity with the issues mentioned above. These links, as well as some specific problems were identified over the last years working with regional/national parks, especially in smaller communities, during project evaluation meetings, seminars with the receiving organizations, local communities and volunteers. The project helps to reveal and realize the personal needs or participants and internal objectives of receiving organizations. MAS INFO
